HIGHLY ESTEEMED MEDICINES.

FOSTER'S EGYPTIAN BALM OF LIFE.

FOR NATURE'S GRAND AND GENIAL AUXILIARY.

A SPECIFIC FOR Consumption, Great Bodily Debility, Old and Newly Ruptured Coughs, Flatulency, Indigestion and Bilious Disorders, Croup, Whooping Cough, Scurvy and Scrofulous Affections and Female Complaints.

The Egyptian Balm of Life being an invaluable Family Medicine, should not be neglected in the Spring and Fall by any member of a family, as a Grand Auxiliary to the efforts of nature, in throwing off superfluous humors, generated in the winter and summer months; thus preventing as well as otherwise curing the above distressing ailments, and giving a healthy tone and proper action to all the grand operations of the system.

This Medicine has long retained an unrivaled character for excellence in the private practice of many eminent practitioners in Europe, yet remaining at the same time, undivided in the possession of the individual of whom it has been purchased.

It is now exerting a salutary influence on this side of the Atlantic, and it is recommended to those who may be laboring under any of the diseases for which it is designed as a specific, and also as a preventive of disease, on its first appearance.

For a more particular description of the above medicine, we would refer to the envelope accompanying each bottle.

Many valuable certificates might be produced of the benefit received from it. Hundreds in the State of Maine, as well as in other States, can testify to its superior efficacy, but the proprietor is willing for the public to judge for themselves by trial. A few names, however, are referred to in the envelope accompanying each bottle.

Foster's Celebrated Nerve Ointment.

For the cure of Sprains, Bruises, Cramp, Rheumatism, Contracted Muscles, Sore Throat, Stiff Neck, Pain in the Breast, Back or Joints, Throat Disasters, the Piles, &c.

The general testimony concerning this Ointment, from those who have proved its merits, is, that it is too valuable a medicine to be neglected. And indeed we might fill a book of an hundred pages in giving incidents of its happy effects on the suffering.

N. B. The above Medicines are prepared only by W. A. Greenough, Portsmouth, N. H., and sold wholesale and retail by him.

Also, sold wholesale and retail by G. W. LADD, Bangor; sold also by Eld. C. Rigby & J. Knowlton, New York; Winthrop Frost, Lincoln, S. Lang, Palmyra; H. B. O. Washburn & Co. Belfast; Gilmore & Clifford, Prospect; Luther Mulgrew, North Prospect; Robert Treat and J. C. Chick, Frankfort; Arty & Nourse, Hampden; Richardson & Kennedy, Old Town; E. P. Butler & Co. Orono.

BUCKSPORT HIGH SCHOOL, AND CLASSICAL INSTITUTE.

THIS School, now in operation, will continue permanently under the care of JOHN B. L. SOULE, A. B., an experienced and successful instructor.

It will be the purpose of the Principal, and of those who may be connected with him, to maintain a school of the first rank—where, by means of a thorough and progressive course of study, a uniform and judicious discipline, and a careful vigilance over the intellectual and moral habits of the pupils, the young of both sexes may enjoy the greatest facilities for acquiring a sound, practical education.

Thorough instruction will be given to young gentlemen preparing for college, fitting them to enter the Freshmen, or advanced classes.

Terms of Tuition. For Common Studies, $4.00; For Higher Branches and Languages, $5.00.

Board may be procured on reasonable terms; and permanent arrangements will soon be made, by which pupils from abroad will be accommodated at very favorable charges.

The Fall Term will commence September 11th, and continue eleven weeks.

PATENT MILL WHEELS.

THE Subscriber having for a long time given his attention to the construction and operation of Water Wheels, has finally succeeded in the invention of two kinds of Wheels for which he has received Letters Patent from the Government of the United States.

These Wheels are simple in their construction, cheap and durable, are easily put in operation, and are not liable like most other wheels to get out of order; they are not obstructed by back water, when the head is not diminished thereby; and the same power and speed is obtained, with about one half the quantity of water usually applied to wheels now in general use.

A great number of these Wheels are now in operation and give in all cases entire satisfaction; and for further information respecting them the following gentlemen are referred to, all of whom have some of said wheels in operation: Jacob Drummond, James B. Fiske, Amos Davis and Leonard March, Esqrs., Messrs. Fiske & Norcross, Foster & Gilman, S. P. & H. Strickland, W. T. & H. Peirce & Co. Bangor; Hon. J. S. Little, Portland; Hon. John Otis, Hallowell; F. A. Butman, Esquire, Dismont; Robert Treat, Gen. A. Peirce, Esquire, Frankfort; Daniel Dennett, Esq. Milo; Col. Henry Orne, Milton; Messrs. Fiske & Bridge, Milford; Ira Wadleigh Esq. Oldtown; Capt. R. Fittz, Dedham; John Black and John M. Hale, Esqrs. Ellsworth; Messrs. A. Campbell & Co. Cherryfield; Daniel Harwood, Esq. Machias; Levi L. Lowell, Calais.

The above wheels are manufactured and for sale at the Iron Foundries of Messrs. HINCKLEY & EGERY and FRANKLIN MUZZY & Co. in this city, who are furnished with a great variety of patterns, so that Wheels of any particular description, or adapted to any given head of water, can be furnished at short notice. They are also authorized to dispose of the Patent Right for the same.

LOOKING GLASS & PICTURE FRAME MANUFACTORY.

FAIRBANKS & HOLLAND,

PEARSON'S MILLS,.....BANGOR.

THE public are informed that we have established a manufactory for making LOOKING GLASS, PORTRAIT AND PICTURE FRAMES of all sizes and varieties. We have set up suitable machinery in all the branches of the business by which much labor is saved and the price of these rich and beautiful articles is greatly reduced, so that a fine article may now take the place of coarse and all looking ones, and at a low price.

Large and elegant O. G. and bevel frames, and small bevel frames with rich mahogany veneer are manufactured in such quantities that we are prepared to answer, at short notice, all orders at WHOLESALE.

by the hundred or thousand, at prices that cannot be satisfactory to dealers.

New frames fitted to Portraits, Looking Glasses or Pictures, or new glasses furnished and fitted to old frames.

Dealers supplied with frames either with or without glass.

N. B. Orders respectfully solicited for single frames or by the dozen; and as this is a new branch of Home Manufacture to any extent, we trust the public will be ready to encourage and support the enterprise.

For the convenience of our city friends, orders for frames of any kind may be left at the Hardware store of DAVID MOSMAN on East Market Place.

TO the Medical Faculty it is presented for demonstration as a desideratum, when properly applied, in the following cases, viz.—where the nipple is inverted; where there is excretion in its irritable form; or even where it has completely sloughed. Perhaps the most extraordinary circumstance pertaining to its operation, is that it operates with perfect ease to the Mother, and perfect facility to the Child. It will be seen at a glance that this article is far superior to any other article of the kind which has yet been offered to the public.

PROSPECTUS OF THE MECHANICS' RECORD.

By a vote of the late STATE CONVENTION OF MECHANICS, a Committee was authorized to issue a Prospectus for the publication, in the city of Bangor, of a monthly periodical devoted to the interests of the Mechanics of the State, and to be the organ of communication between the different Associations already formed, and the means of increasing their numbers and extending their influence.

Agreeably to their instructions, the Committee now propose to their brethren, the Mechanics of Maine, the publication of a monthly periodical earnestly devoted to their interests—to all that concerns their social relations, their scientific attainments, and their progress in self-cultivation; a publication heartily engaged in disseminating a correct public sentiment regarding useful labor—in enlarging the boundaries of science, aiding in the improvement of the arts and in spreading useful information upon all subjects connected with education and the art, as well as an organ of communication between the Mechanic Associations in the State.

It is confidently expected that the matter for each number will be furnished by the earnest thinkers in each of the Associations in the State and by men who are deeply interested in the onward progress of humanity, by means of a better and a wider spread intelligence among the people, and a broader extension of physical science and the mechanic arts.

The RECORD will be issued in a pamphlet form of convenient size for binding, upon good paper and a clear type, each number to contain as many pages as the amount of the subscription at the time of its publication will warrant.

TERMS. The RECORD will be furnished to each subscriber for one dollar a year in advance, and no subscriptions will be received without the pay.

Delegates to the State Convention, the officers of the several Mechanic Associations and mechanics generally are requested to aid in procuring subscribers and remitting the money, that the experiment so honorable to them, if successful, and so useful to the community may not fail for the want of their co-operation and influence.

It is expected, also, that each Association will take immediate measures to occupy a portion of the RECORD in those matters deemed of the greatest interest in advancing the cause which the mechanics in this State for themselves, have so unanimously undertaken.

* * * The first number will be put to press as soon as notice is received of a sufficient subscription to sustain the publication.

REYNOLDS & SMITH,

Drapers and Tailors,

thing, and am surprised at his presuming to send me a bill.

"Very well sir." And the collector withdrew. An hour after, he returned with a new and more explicit bill. It called for two hundred dollars for six visits and medicine, to dog Fido. As soon as he read it, Mr. Mayflower became very angry, and said some hard things about Doctor Carpus. When he had cooled off a little, the collector formally demanded the bill, and was, as formally, told to go about his business, and that right speedily.

On the next morning, Mr. Mayflower was still further confounded to find a lawyer's note on his desk, setting forth, that he, the said lawyer, had been instructed to bring suit on a certain claim, fully expressed, in favor of Doctor Carpus.

Here, then, the matter began to assume a rather serious form. A lawyer was consulted, who assured him that Carpus could not possibly recover the amount claimed, although he was legally entitled to regular fees for his services, which would undoubtedly be awarded him. But, as the prosecution of the suit would necessarily lead to an unpleasant exposure of his daughter, who, if he defended the case, would be called into court to give evidence, the lawyer seriously advised the incensed old gentleman to settle the claim, unjust and exorbitant as it was, and so get clear of the whole matter.

It took old Mr. Mayflower some days to make up his mind to pay the bill. Finally, however, the tears and entreaties of poor Mary prevailed, who had a dreadful fear of being called into court. Her fun with the doctor brought the laugh upon the wrong side.

About a week after the claim was settled, a letter was received from Doctor Carpus, couched in pretty plain but respectful language, setting forth the nature and effects of the practical joke which the young lady had played off upon him, and alleging, that as she had enjoyed a little fun at his expense, it was no more than fair that he should pay off the score in her own coin. In conclusion, he referred to two one hundred dollar bills he had enclosed, and stated, that as he had no legal right to them, he could not retain them. He had succeeded in making the party who had provoked him to institute a mock-suit, sensible of her folly, and there he was willing to let the matter drop; trusting, that when next she took it into her head to have some fun with the doctor, she would think twice before she acted once. And here the matter ended, leaving both Doctor Carpus and Mary Mayflower somewhat wiser from having read quite attentively a new leaf to them in the book of human life.

Transmission of Intelligence.

We are frequently indebted for news to Wilmer & Smith's Liverpool paper, with the foreign news digested and made up prior to the sailing of the Steamships to the United States. The regular communication between Europe and the Western World, by means of steam, enables the publisher of the American News Letter to print an edition in Liverpool, for the supply of all its North American subscribers; and also to print an American paper at New York for its European subscribers. By this means the publisher states that the American news, to the latest dates, can be delivered to its Liverpool Subscribers' Residences within Half-an-Hour after the arrival of each Vessel in the River, and three Hours in advance of Letters or Papers through the Post Office.

This is done by means of private expresses, which have now become of so much utility throughout this country, and are fast extending to all civilized portions of the globe. These private expresses were first started between Boston and New York by Harnden of Boston, and have, by Harnden & Co. though agents and independent branches, with their establishment for head quarters, and in correspondence with them, extended through all parts of Europe, so that any thing from a lock of hair to a ship's anchor, can be conveyed from this city to any part of the United States, or to any town in Europe, and even to any particular door that shall be mentioned.

By means of these expresses, we are often furnished with intelligence in advance of the mail, and have business promptly transacted in remote cities. They are a great convenience, and deserving much of commendation and encouragement.

Agricultural Fair.

The Annual Fair of the Penobscot Agricultural Society will take place in this city, on Thomas' Hill to-morrow. It is expected that there will be a large display of fruits and various productions, of cattle, and swine and horses and also of various manufactures. Those who intend to offer specimens for exhibition should send them to the Secretary at the Gun House to-morrow morning.

The several committees will be in attendance in the forenoon to make their examinations in order to report in the afternoon.

At two o'clock in the afternoon an address will be delivered before the society by Hon. Samuel H. Blake at the City Hall, and it is expected that there will be a large attendance of men and women.

The committee of arrangements have made ample preparations for the exhibition of all articles presented. The occasion promises to be one of the highest interest.

The stray newspaper bag due on Saturday evening, but by some means miscarried, arrived last evening. By the by, the Democrat is particularly savage upon the subject of its having failed to arrive, and one would suppose from reading our neighbor's remarks that the whole mail went by the board, and that the Post Master in this city was no better than he should be. Have a care, neighbor, and not carry your "Democratic friends too closely."

Cheap Literature.

The Lord deliver us and our's from the contaminating influences of much that is heralded as the cheap literature of the day. Poor, miserable vile trash it is, false to nature, false to history, false to science, false to elevated sentiment, false to all that is good and true. But alas, what oceans of it are swallowed and how many young minds are consumed by excited passions, and bewildered by over wrought fancy. The sober real and the true are becoming too stale for the morbid and vitiated tastes of those who have been drinking at the pools of licentiousness.

It is good and pleasant to have good and cheap books, and these fortunately can be obtained if one will carefully note what he purchases. But he should avoid the vile exciting worthless trash as he would the fatal Upas.

Anti Mormon Movements.

The Iowa Hawk Eye speaks of the Anti Mormon Convention as being very large and as having passed resolutions declaring that if Gov. Ford would not surrender "Jo Smith" on the requisition of the Gov. of Missouri—which he has refused to do from political considerations—that they would call in aid from other counties and other States, to assist them in delivering him up. As rumors were prevalent that a number of the citizens had had their lives threatened by the Mormons, the meeting resolved to avenge any blood that might be so shed. They agreed not to obey the mandates of the Mormon officers of the county, who have been put in power by the Mormons; the whole county treasury being now at their disposal. The excitement in Indiana and Iowa is very great and it is feared that a crisis is rapidly approaching that will involve thousands in a conflict of terrible consequences. Joe Smith the prophet has twenty thousand well armed troops and they are urged on by a blind zeal and religious fanaticism.

The Skowhegan Clarion says that Mr. Jonathan Albee, a Revolutionary Soldier residing in Lexington, Me., is now 100 years and 16 days old, he enjoys good health, converses very intelligibly about the campaigns he was in, lived to see his fifth generation, the oldest 12 years, and he attended the polls and deposited his vote at the late election.

A Southern locofoco stump orator was, a while since, going it on the old assumption that the amount of duties fixed upon an article was so much added to the cost of that article, to the consumer; and went on to speak of the tax of six cents a yard, with which the people were burdened on domestic cottons. A farmer in the crowd, who had just been making a purchase of domestics, stopped him, and asked how that could be, when he had just been buying a lot of good domestic cotton at five cents per yard. The politician was dumb, and concluded he had better not meddle with that subject.

Third Candidates Whigs.

It is very much a matter of doubt whether there is any considerable number of Whigs, who are in favor of even a second candidate for the Presidency, in addition to Mr. Clay, who is now so decidedly supported at the first choice of the masses of the party. But there was a rumor some little time ago, to which we then alluded, that some friends of Mr. Webster, were disposed to put him forward into a nominal position as a candidate, in order that there might be a suggestion of some third person as a kind of compromise. In reference to this, we have little hesitation in adopting the remarks of the New York Tribune.

"Against this, we choose at the threshold to enter our decided protest. The Whig party has fixed upon its candidate for President, and will not surrender its choice to the caprice of any individual. It welcomes all who choose to its banner, no matter how great or how recent their past errors, but it will not stoop to buy the support of any man, nor does it owe reparation to any: quite the contrary. It will kill no fatted calf to welcome the return of any prodigal except such as would gladly come in, call or no call. In the hour of grateful repose after overwhelming victory, in the full flush of its sanguine anticipation of years of ascendancy and security, it cast aside with loathing the but just tasted sweets of patronage and power when it could no longer retain them without a sacrifice of principle and of public good. It well knew that there would be enough disposed to 'crook the pregnant hinges of the knee' and it left to those who could flatter where they could not respect all the thrift which follows fawning." In defeat or in victory, in power or out of power, it will prove itself worthy of the lofty attitude it then assumed, now and for ever!"

The Tariff at the South.

Every body knows that the Tariff policy is daily gaining friends in the Southern country so long the seat of the most determined opposition to every measure of that sort. It may yet be the glory of Mr. Clay by his nomination and election to the Presidency, to combine the whole country in one harmonious admiration and support of that noble system, so essential to all American independence and prosperity. The following remarks of the Richmond Whig, are expressed with an emphasis and heartiness which once could not have been found in any Southern paper whatever. Speaking of Locofoco hostility to the present Tariff, the Whig says:

"It is true, the Act has done more to promote the prosperity of the country—to revive the energies of the people, depressed by the long and gloomy reign of Locofocoism, than any one act in the whole annals of our country. But that is neither here nor there. It is a Whig measure—it is filling the land with specie—it is supplying our own mechanic with profitable labour—it is making a good market for the agricultural products of the country—it is making us independent of foreign nations. But for the very reason that it so seems with the blessings, national and individual—which will redound to the glory of the Whig party, it falls under the stern displeasure of Locofocoism. We should hesitate to believe that so much mischief would be perpetrated—through mere faction and party hate—if the leading men of the Democracy had not again and again reiterated the assurance that the detestable measure shall die the death. They are irretrievably committed; and they will do the deed in the name of free trade, and with burning denunciations on their lips against British domination, will subject us to the intolerable commercial tyranny of the British Isles."

GRAHAM'S MAGAZINE, for October.

In this Magazine so rich in its pictorial department and so racy and able in its matter, we have the benefit of reading the productions of Grattan, Willis, Hoffman and other well known and eminent writers. There is a splendid engraving of Hoffman in the present number. It can be obtained at BURGESS Periodical depot.

GODBY'S LADY'S BOOK, for October.

Bugbee has received at his Periodical depot the October number of this elegant monthly.—Its embellishments are beautiful and the matter quite entertaining. We have copied one of its articles, upon the outside.

Singular Relics.

The Macon Ga. Gazette gives an account of the discovery of several relics which have recently been dug up in excavating the track of the Central Railroad, near that city, which cannot fail to create speculation in the minds of the curious as to their origin, the date in which they were deposited, etc. About five feet under the surface was found a bowl of earthenware, in which was a brass spoon, also a huge iron spur of tough workmanship, the rowels of which, from opposite points, although somewhat shortened by rust, measured nearly three inches.

But what is still more astonishing, 34 feet below the surface of the earth, the trunk of a tree, believed to be the wild poplar or tulip tree, about a foot in diameter, was discovered, extending nearly across the track. It was completely incased with a coating of coarse rock, from one to two inches in thickness. The wood, which mostly had the appearance of being charred or converted into coal, was quite black and very heavy. Some pieces of pine bark were found perfectly sound, and bearing distinct marks of the axe. Also, a large chip was found, bearing distinct evidence of the edge of the tool by which it was cut. The end of the log also showed that it had been cut down by an axe.

The place where they were deposited is a level plain about 200 yards wide, with the ground some fifty feet lower on each side, which would seem to forbid the idea that they had been gradually covered by an accumulation on the surface of the earth.

Constant occupation prevents temptation, and begets contentment; and content is the true philosopher's stone.

Beneficial, as have been the effects of the Tariff, there is a class of politicians who are determined upon its repeal. They belong to that short sighted body of men, who in this country, are ready to sacrifice every thing to popular cries and delusion. The hurrah cries of the hour are taken for fixed expressions of public sentiment. "Free Trade," is a sounding phrase, which captivates the imagination of many, who are more inclined to judge of things by their names than their tendencies. Free Trade is thought, by those whom it deceives, to be a liberal, generous policy of reciprocal benefit to all nations, to mean that kind of Trade which is free from restrictions, open to all and for the good of all. Never was there a greater misnomer.

The fact that every nation has fostered its industry by protective laws—that it has invited capital, labor and genius to its shores by sustaining and encouraging their exertions against foreign rivalry is the best proof of the universal assent of all enlightened nations to the justice and necessity of the Protective Policy. From the days of Tyre, through all the history of the kingdoms that have flourished since the "Queen of the Sea" sunk beneath the waves, self-protection for the pursuits and occupations of their citizens has been the unwavering policy of all civilized nations. England has grown up to a colossal grandeur and power by this system, surpassing Rome in her palmiest days. Prosperity and wealth, both national and individual, have been the natural consequences of the Protective system wherever properly sustained. The most flourishing periods in the history of this country are those in which the Tariff of this country are those in which the Tariff was in full vigor, and the most calamitous, are those in which the Government, withdrawing its support from American industry, left it to struggle in hopeless conflict with British monopoly.

Free trade is but another name for inequality and injustice. Suppose the Tariff were repealed, and we should adopt Free Trade in its most comprehensive meaning, would Great Britain repeal all her restrictive laws which shut out the products of other countries from the United Kingdom? The obstinacy with which the Corn laws are maintained and the powerful party interested in their existence are sufficient proofs of the impossibility of carrying Free Trade into full operation in England. Why then, if no nation can reduce this theory to practice, why we ask are we called upon to perform what others dare not and cannot—to make possible an impossibility—to commit an act of self-sacrifice, that we may test the effects of a theory as impracticable in its results as it would be ruinous in its experimental trials? What can be the objects of the advocates of Free Trade but to ruin our rising manufactures, to destroy the capital invested in them, and to deprive of honest employment the hundreds of thousands of operatives who now gain a livelihood in our manufacturing establishments. Is this a result which any friend of his country, any American, desires to see brought about?

For our part, so firm is our faith in the absolute necessity of a Protective Tariff both to the happiness and comfort of the working men, that we do not believe in the patriotism of any American who is not its friend. The Tariff is preeminently a law for the workingmen and laborers of the country. To them it looks for support in its hour of trial—to them is committed its defence against foreign and internal enemies. We know that, deceived by unmeaning names, and false cries, a large proportion of the working men are to be found among the enemies of the Tariff.—Let them look at the state of the country last year before the passage of the present Tariff, when thousands were starving for want of employment, or working at such low wages as barely to supply themselves with the necessities of life—let them look at the dark and gloomy night of distress through which we have just passed, and then contrast it with the present period, full of hope and promise, business reviving, our manufacturing all at work, trade and commerce flourishing, happiness and industry again diffusing their auspicious influences over the country—let them contrast these two different periods before and after the passage of the Tariff, and ask themselves which they think best for their welfare.
